This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFACE.

THE book which is now laid before the Members of the Camden Society contains an account of moneys received and expended for what are termed "the secret services" of King Charles the Second and King James the Second, from the 30th March, 1679, to the 25th December, 1688. The account was rendered by Henry Guy, Esq. some time after the accession of William the Third, probably under an order from the new Government. The accountant acknowledges to have received during the nine years and three quarters to which his account relates the sum of 565,573*l.* 15*s.* 5¾*d.*, and the account now printed sets forth the expenditure of the whole of that large sum, except a balance of 341*l.* 5*s.* 6½*d.*

The payments are scarcely of the kind which would be expected from the title of "secret services." They are principally divisible into two great classes: 1. Extraordinary expenses incident to the management of the King's private estate, and the repairs and improvements of the royal residences; and 2. Payments and allowances to private persons, for services rendered to the crown. Under these two heads the great majority of the payments made by this accountant may be classified. Disbursements for what may be termed private personal expenses of the sovereign were made through other agents, to whom, as for example to William Chiffinch, moneys were occasionally paid over by the present accountant. The ordinary royal household salaries and expenses were also provided for in another manner.

The circumstance that the latter class of payments is not comprised in the present account has prevented my taking advantage of some papers which relate to those payments exclusively, which were kindly fowarded to me for consideration by the noble President of the Camden Society. The papers to which I allude have a value of their own, and will, I hope, be made public; but it seemed to me to be better not to intermix them with the present account, which is of a nature altogether distinct. As a specimen of the papers sent to me by Lord Braybrooke, I beg to subjoin one of them. Its curiosity and historical importance will, I am sure, be universally acknowledged and understood.

The present volume is transcribed from a manuscript book in the possession of William Selby Lowndes, Esq., of Whaddon Hall, Bucks, to whom it has descended from his ancestor William Lowndes, Esq., of the Bury, near Chesham, Secretary of the Treasury in the reign of Queen Anne. It will, at a glance, be seen that it comprises numerous entries of considerable interest. Among the earliest are the sums bestowed upon Titus Oates, who, quartered in Whitehall, receives 48*l.* per month, while his satellites are allowed stipends, and sums are paid to various individuals for "discovering Popish priests." These items appear in singular and repulsive contrast with the sums lavished by Charles upon his female favourites. Among these, the payments to the Duchess of Portsmouth are most conspicuous. No less a sum than 136,668*l.* 10*s.*

appears to have been bestowed by the profligate monarch on this woman within the space of one year,* and this at a period when the wages of the servants of the royal household were doled out by beggarly instalments. It will be some relief to the reader to find interspersed with entries equally shameful, items of sums paid to the humble instruments of Charles's escape after the rout at Worcester. The family of Pendrell was not forgotten; even collateral branches of it experienced the royal bounty.

Notwithstanding the part played by Nell Gwynne during the lifetime of Charles, she does not appear, at least from this record, to have been so much indebted to her royal admirer as what is known of her history would lead us to infer. Some of the entries afford us new facts relating to her career. We find in the year 1685 a sum of 729*l.* 2*s.* 3*d.* paid to Richard Graham, Esq. for the purpose of discharging the claims of "several tradesmen, creditors of Mrs. Ellen Gwynne, in satisfaction of their debts, for which the said Ellen stood outlawed." In the same year two sums of five hundred pounds each are paid to her as bounty. Two years afterwards the following entry occurs:—

To Sir Stephen Fox, for so much by him paid to Sir Rob^{t} Clayton, in full of 3,774*l.* 2*s.* 6*d.* for redeeming the mortgage of Bestwood Park, made to Sir John Musters, to settle the same upon Mrs. Ellen Gwynn for life; and after her death upon the Duke of Saint Alban's, and his issue male, with the reversion in the crown . . .	1,256	0	2

* See the payments under the year 1681, page 42.

Here is evidence that the injunction of the dying monarch, "Don't let poor Nelly starve," was not disregarded by his successor. A little later another entry shews that her career had ended.

To Roger Heuitt, upon the like sum that would have become due at X'mas last, to Mrs. Ellinor Gwynn, dec^{d}, on a pension of 1,500^{li} p. ann., in the name of Francis Gwynn, Esq., to reimburse so much money paid by S^{r} Stephen Fox, for the funeral of the said Mrs. Gwynn . . .	375	0	0

The object of a preface like the present is, however, rather to direct the attention of the reader than to satisfy it. Such entries as those alluded to are intermixed with a great variety of others of kinds which it would need a volume to develope. There are but few incidents of the period to which this account relates which do not receive illustration from its pages, and the most conspicuous actors in that troubled and disastrous time will be found noticed in it in one way or another. As an addition to our historical materials it has two recommendations: first, that it is believed to be the only account of the kind that has yet been printed; and, second, that it is unquestionably authentic. When the account was rendered there was no longer any necessity for concealment or disguise. On these grounds, as well as on account of its intrinsic historical importance, it is submitted to the candid consideration of the members of the Camden Society and the public.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS, 1851.

AT a Meeting of the COUNCIL of the Camden Society held at No. 25, Parliament Street, Westminster, on Wednesday the 7th May, 1851, the Council having proceeded to the Election of Officers,—

JOHN BRUCE, Esq. was elected Director; JOHN PAYNE COLLIER, Esq. Treasurer; and WILLIAM J. THOMS, Esq. Secretary, for the Year next ensuing.

REPORT OF THE COUNCIL

OF

THE CAMDEN SOCIETY,

ELECTED 2nd MAY, 1850.

The Council of the Camden Society, elected on the 2nd May, 1850, have to report that, acting on the principles heretofore observed, they have invested two compositions received during the present year, and that the stock standing in the names of the Trustees of the Society has thereby been increased from £921 18*s*. to £942 12*s*. Three per Cent. Consols. Although the Council believe that the object for which the Society was established, and a maintenance of the principles upon which it has hitherto endeavoured to attain that object, afford the best security for the permanence of the Society, it is a matter of congratulation to the Council, as it will no doubt be to the Society at large, to find an additional security for such permanence in the satisfactory amount which the reserved sum is gradually attaining.

The Council have to regret the deaths during the past year of the following Members:—

Michael Bland, Esq., F.R.S., F.S.A.
Rev. John Brown, M.A.
James Gooden, Esq., F.S.A.
John Greenall, Esq.
The Lord Langdale.
Gwalter B. Lonsdale, Esq.
Ebenezer Ludlow, Esq., M.A., Serjeant at Law.
The Rev. James Ingram, D.D., F.S.A.
The Marquess of Northampton, F.R.S., F.S.A.
Rt. Honble. Sir Robert Peel, F.R.S., F.S.A.
John Roby, Esq., M.R.S.L.
William Travis, Esq., M.D.
Rt. Honble. Sir Lancelot Shadwell, M.A.
Rt. Honble. C. W. Williams Wynn, F.R.S., F.S.A.

To this list is to be added the name of one—to whose activity and influence the Society, at its commencement, was indebted for many of its most distinguished Members—namely, THOMAS AMYOT, Esq. the first Director of the Society. The Council have recorded on their Minutes the very sincere respect and regard which they all entertained for their deceased colleague and fellow-labourer, and their sense of the zealous and valuable services which he rendered to the Society at its formation, and so long as the state of his health allowed. The Council feel that in so doing they only gave utterance to a sentiment shared by every Member of the Society.

The death of MR. AMYOT having occasioned a vacancy in the directorship, the Council, in pursuance of the authority vested in them by their laws, unanimously elected to that office MR. BRUCE, who during the many years in which he had acted as Treasurer of the Society, and by the works he had edited, had given the best possible proof of the interest he takes in its welfare.

The Council have added the following Gentlemen to the List of Local Secretaries,— Cambridge.—WILLIAM M. CAMPION, Esq. Fellow of Queen's College.

Gloucestershire.—EDWARD DALTON, LL.D.
Leicester.—JOHN SIDNEY CROSSLEY, Esq.

And it would be happy to find other Gentlemen willing to undertake an office the labours of which are very trifling, while the advantages to the Society from the establishment of an increased number of such coadjutors would be very considerable.

The publications issued during the past year have been—

I. Wills and Inventories from the Registry of the Commissary of Bury St. Edmund's and the Archdeacon of Sudbury. Edited by SAMUEL TYMMS, Esq.

This volume has, we believe, been received with much satisfaction by the Members, not only as the first one illustrative of Testamentary Documents which has been issued by the Society, but also because it is looked on as an evidence that, if the time should ever arrive when the important documents of this valuable class now deposited at Doctors' Commons may be made available for the historical student, the Camden Society will be ready to use all the means at their disposal for giving them to the world.

II. Walter Mapes De Nugis Curialium. Edited by THOMAS WRIGHT, Esq.

A work of great curiosity and value, containing many facts and historical anecdotes relating to an early and very important period of our history.

III. The Pylgrymage of Sir Richard Guylforde to the Holy Land, A.D. 1506. From a copy believed to be unique, from the press of Richard Pynson. Edited by SIR HENRY ELLIS, K.H., Sec. S.A.

A curious work, upon a subject at all times of great interest.

The Council have added the following works to the List of Suggested Publications :—

I. A Collection of Letters of Queen Elizabeth, the Earls of Leycester and Burghley, and Secretary Walsingham, from the originals in the State Paper Office. To be edited by JOHN BRUCE, Esq.

This collection of Documents, which was suggested by Mr. Adlard, is of great historical importance, and will form a supplement volume to the Leycester Correspondence, already edited by Mr. Bruce.

II. Early Treatises on the subject of the Advantage of having a Vernacular Translation of the Scriptures. To be edited by SIR FREDERICK MADDEN, K.H., F.R.S. Keeper of the Manuscripts, British Museum.

The Council have reason to believe that the Tracts to be contained in this volume, the publication of which was suggested to them by SIR FREDERICK MADDEN, as soon as he had brought to a close his long and valuable labours on the Wickliffite version of the Holy Scriptures, will be found strikingly illustrative of the history of opinion in the important period to which they relate.

III. The Domesday of St. Paul's; a Description of the Manors belonging to the Church of St. Paul's in London in the year 1222. To be edited by the VEN. ARCHDEACON HALE.

The learned Archdeacon of London having expressed his willingness to edit for the Camden Society this curious document, the Council readily embraced the offer, glad of the opportunity of securing the publication of so important a record under the editorial supervision of a gentleman so peculiarly fitted for the task.

In bringing to a close this account of their stewardship during the past year, the Council trust that the Society will see, both in the Works which have been issued to the Members, and in those which have been projected, not only that due regard has been paid to the important objects for which the Camden Society was originally instituted, but also unquestionable evidence of the service which it is by such publications daily rendering to historical students, and its consequent claim to be regarded as among the most useful and the most popular of the literary institutions of the country.

By order of the Council,

JOHN BRUCE, Director.
WILLIAM J. THOMS, Secretary.

REPORT OF THE AUDITORS,

DATED APRIL 29, 1851.
